COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The final transactions of 1963 have been made but the whole picture can not be evaluated for a couple more weeks. I'm afraid the tax collection percentage will not equal the last two years. In some ways it has been an excellent year and in other ways it has been a poor year. Some of the town accounts are overdrawn and some have unexpended balances. I would say the brightest spot as far as the town accounts go, is that there is a very good balance in the truck rental account. I will have the final figures on the various accounts in a week or two.

The highway crew has been working on the insulation of the center panel of the town garage. The project was started over a year and a half ago with a major portion of the work completed at that time. The ceiling was lowered on each end of the garage, and now the middle is being done.

The last week of the year has brought a larger number of people to the town office and a greater number of comments and ideas than any other week of the year. Of course, everyone or nearly everyone feels that taxes are too high. I would say the other most mentioned subject was the sewage abatement program that the town must begin in the next couple of years. It might be that some of the interested citizens can get together and lend their assistance to the town.

HANOVER DOWEL CO. DISTRIBUTES $15,000 IN BONUSES

On December 31 Hanover Dowel Co., Inc., distributed approximately $15,000 in bonuses to its employees.

The bonuses plus the weekly payroll amounted to over $21,000. Being paid the week after Christmas is of significance to employees and the surrounding communities, the Company stated.

Included in other benefits are paid holidays and paid vacations. This year a major medical program was added at no cost to employees. This with the existing health and accident and life insurance would appear to make a well-rounded insurance program.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET TUESDAY

The Bethel Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Norseman Inn on Tuesday evening, January 7, for its annual meeting.

This will undoubtedly be an historic occasion for with the election of the new slate of officers, the original Bethel Chamber of Commerce will go out of existence and the new grouping to be known as the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce will become the active organization.

Under its new constitution and by-laws adopted at the December meeting, the Chamber will seek to include representative people from the surrounding communities in its membership. With its expanded policy of interests the work of the Chamber will include community projects affecting the larger area described as greater Bethel.

At the annual meeting, an attempt will be made to outline its future aims and set in motion the necessary committees to carry out the aims.

The Chamber hopes a good representation will be present to support the initial kick-off meeting of the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce.

ORGAN CONCERT WELL RECEIVED

A very appreciative audience of about 200 persons attended the organ concert at Bingham Hall last Thursday evening.

Frank Flint, at the console, was at his best with a delightfully varied program.

Mrs. Margaret Carter Bean, contralto, as usual, charmed her audience with three well-chosen numbers, accompanied by Frank's sister Carol, at the organ.

The committee in charge wishes to thank each and everyone who helped to make the concert the success it was.
